A pizza dream

Nobody loves pizza as much as I do!

Editor's Note

Mmm ... pizza! I love eating pizzas but I only have it once in a while because I get pimples on my face the next day. But the look on the faces of those two Indian boys says it all because some pizzas are delicious! I say 'some' because there are many weird pizzas around the world with odd toppings. For example, a famous chain restaurant had a pizza with six cheeses! That is a lot! I suppose Hongkongers are so used to stinky tofu and durian they want pizzas with a strong taste too. Read more about the boys' search for pizza on G02. If I want to show that I am really happy when eating I could use words but an emoji works too. Turn to G03 to read about an emoji that is the 'word of the year'.

Simon

STEVIE loves eating. One of his favourite foods is pizza! One day, he asked his parents to go out and treat him to pizza. Stevie's Mum jokingly said, "Why not save money to buy one for yourself?" Stevie answered, "But I have pocket money! I don't need to save money." His daddy said, "Some of us have to go to work to earn money like the two little boys in India (印度) ..."

Stevie:

Who are the two boys? Are we going to see them?

Stevie's Mum:

Actually, we are going to watch them! They are characters in the new movie The Crow's Egg (《兩個小孩的pizza》)!

The quest for pizza

THE story is about two poor brothers who live in the southern tip of India. They often steal eggs from the nests of crows to eat. That is why they are called 'Crow's Egg the Elder' and 'Crow's Egg the Younger'!

One day, the family gets a television from the government. The TV opens up a new world for them! There is a commercial about a new pizza shop near their home. They badly want to try this interesting food but do not have money. They begin to save up. But for some reason (which you will know when you watch the movie) they are not allowed to buy the pizza from the shop even when they have enough money! They then have to buy some new clothes! But they are still not able to buy a pizza! (Again, you will know why when you watch the movie!). They even become famous all over the country by accident! Will they finally taste the pizza they dream of? And will they like the taste?

Those poor boys! I hope they can have a taste of it.

Bollywood movies

THE Crow's Egg is a Bollywood (波李活) movie, which means that it is a film produced in the city of Mumbai (孟買). The movies are usually in Hindi (印地語), the official language of India.

The word 'Bollywood' is a mixture of 'Bombay' and 'Hollywood' (荷李活). Bombay is the old name of Mumbai. Hollywood, located in Los Angeles (洛杉磯), the US (美國), is the centre of English-speaking films.

I'm rich so let me buy them 10 pizzas each.

Charity begins at home so buy pizzas for me first!

The Italian pizza

PIZZA is an Italian (意大利的) word that means 'cake' or 'pie'. Its pronunciation is not 'PIZ-za'. The correct way to read it is 'PEET-sa'.
