

Monday.

The Standard 英文虎報

LS LIFE

7
November
2016

Goodies

Isn't this an exciting election?

Indeed, we'll soon know who'll succeed
Barack Obama!

The next US leader

A MERICANS (美國人) will elect their next president tomorrow. The winner will be one of the two candidates: Hillary Clinton or Donald Trump. Let's find out more about them.

Editor's Note

Hi! Tomorrow all eyes will be on the US election on who the next president will be. It has been a very close race and the US public are still unsure who the better candidate is. Both candidates have attracted bad publicity: Donald Trump has said some unkind things about women and Hillary Clinton has not been careful with her emails and that could hurt US national security. The US president will be the most powerful person in the world so let's hope the American public chooses the right person. Turn over to learn more about them. Elsewhere in Goodies, the story on G05 is loosely based on the fairytale The Frog Prince while on G08 is a review of a book that retells the Three Little Pigs in a different way.

Simon

Grace

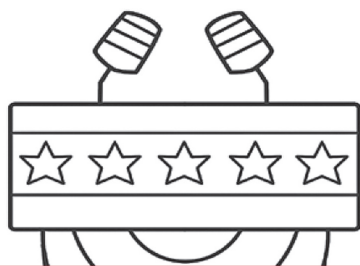

• Photos: Graphic News

What would you do if you were president?
A president makes speeches. What will your speech be about?

Draw a picture of you making a speech below!

Hillary Clinton (希拉莉)

Party: Democratic (民主黨)

Age: 69

Profile: Clinton was secretary of state from 2009 to 2013. She advised President Barack Obama (奧巴馬) on how the US should deal with other countries. This is not her first attempt to win the presidency. In 2008 she put up a strong fight in the primaries but eventually lost to Obama. Neither is she a stranger to the White House. She was First Lady from 1993 to 2001, when her husband Bill was president.

If she wins: Hillary Clinton, a lawyer by training, will be the first female US president.

Orange is the colour

TRUMP'S hairstyle has been the source of many jokes. His hair even led to disputes among children at a school he visited in Las Vegas (拉斯維加斯). They wanted to know whether his hair is really orange. They were also interested in other aspects of the man who could be their leader. In A Child's First Book of Trump, author and comedian Michael Ian Black introduces young readers to an orange creature who aims for world domination.

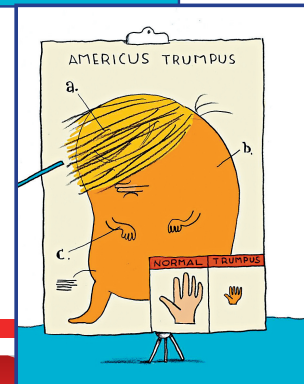

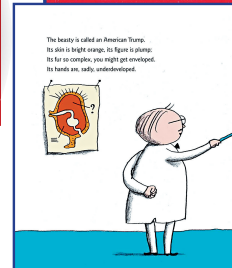

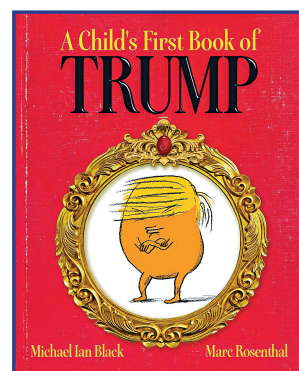

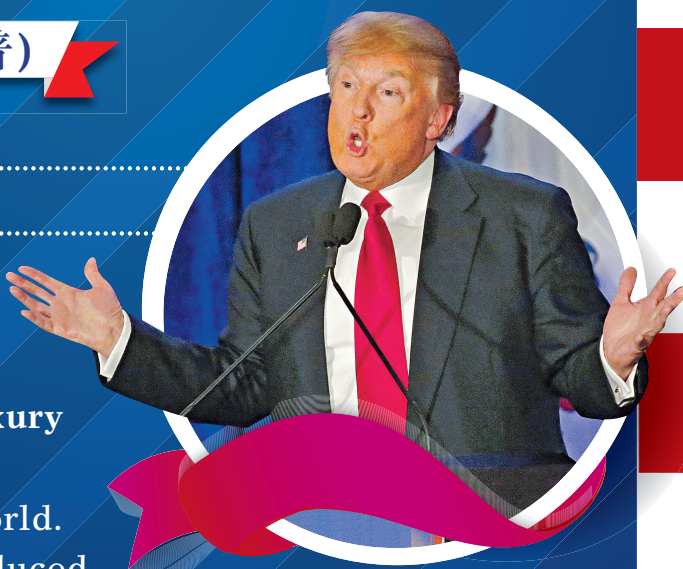

Donald Trump (特朗普)

Party: Republican (共和黨)

Age: 70

Profile: Trump is a wealthy businessman. He makes a lot of money by building hotels, luxury apartments and golf courses around the world. He hosted and co-produced the TV reality show The Apprentice.

If he wins: Trump will be the first US president who did not hold political office before running.

Will a woman lead the US?

Well, we just have to wait and see!