SUPER LONELY

HERO

Editor's Note

Hi! I read somewhere that 400 billion Lego bricks have been produced since 1958 and that there are 62 Lego bricks per person on Earth. I can also bet that every person in the whole world has stepped on Lego bricks! I do not have the patience to build objects with Lego but I do like their superheroes range of toys. Batman is a dark character and too serious but thankfully the new Lego Batman film has jokes about him and just as funny as the first Lego movie. Turn to G02 to read more. On G10 is a letter from a reader about her difficulties with dictation. Many kids do not like it but it does improve your listening skills. Rose has one piece of advice: practice makes perfect!

Simon

BATMAN is the protector of Gotham City and its citizens love him. But why is he lonely and keeps people at a distance? If only he had friends and family, he might just lighten up. In THE LEGO® BATMAN MOVIE, to be released in cinemas tomorrow, see how the dark knight deals with this problem while fighting his greatest enemy, The Joker.

Simon

His face is not as scary as Rose's when she gets mad, though.

Batman's face is so scary!

The Dark Knight

GOTHAM City is protected by Batman. He is a master builder and even has a great music career. He is a hero in Gotham and everyone thinks he is a happy person. Not true! At Wayne Manor, his large mansion, he lives a lonely life and eats microwaved dinners on his own. He only has Alfred, his faithful butler, as his companion. He needs to stop working on his own, maybe have a family, a son perhaps ...

The clown prince of crime

THE Joker has green hair, white skin and always grins. He thinks Gotham is too serious so he wants to make people smile, rule the city, and get Batman to respect him. But Batman does not think he is his greatest enemy and is nothing special. This upsets the Joker so he puts together a team of super criminals to fight Batman. How will Batman respond to this?

The Boy Wonder

IT just so happens Batman forgot he adopted an orphan and is supposed to take care of him. Loud and easily excited, Robin is happy to be Batman's crime-fighting partner. The problem, though, is that Robin is clumsy, naïve and annoying. Will Batman and Robin make a good team?

Experts in Lego

IN the Lego Movie, the Master Builders – an elite team of Lego builders – fight against the evil Lord Business. Master Builders are special because they use their imagination to create anything they want without needing instruction manuals. In real life, there are eight master builders in the whole world who work for Lego to create big sculptures.
